Every time I see Arnold Kraemer I think I am talking to Sam, and every time I see Sam I think it is Arnold, and when I see Lawrence I don't know who I am talking to; so, boys, send me autographed photographs.

And then there was the fellow who wanted comb honey, and the wife strained honey, but both insisted they never disagreed except over a sweet subject. The comb-honey man won't get his appetite appeased until about the first of September.

Believing that a city the size of Santa Ana, with its spiritual and cultural background, should have a religious program, the Revs. W. C. and Alice Parham announce a new radio broadcast over KVOE, hours Sunday evening 9:30 to 10:15, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays 7:15 to 7:45 a. m. The Parhams feel that their messages will be a comfort to those who are physically unable to attend any church service. Santa Ana has some 50 churches. Among them are many members who from physical and other reasons are unable to share in the regular worship. The Parhams hope their radio service will carry into the homes of those so restricted the word of hope and comfort.

No, no, a thousand times no. I have no control over the weather. Please go away and let me feel the same way you do about it, without expressing myself. I'll go this far with you, however. We do need sunlight.

This is beach season, but the meteorologist isn't cooperating. There isn't enough pulchritude in bathing suits along the surf to make the season either interesting or profitable.

And when I call to inquire about the health of Frank Nickey the info is that the "young fellow" became tired of being sick and was down town calling on friends and looking after some business requiring his attention. That's the spirit. Why, you can stay home any old time.

Ike Fields and Tommy Knights recalled that it has been slightly over half a century since they arrived in Santa Ana. Came in from Canada. Two car loads of tourists whom some western real estate agent had persuaded to visit this city, which had given indication of becoming a thriving community. Those were the days of wooden passenger cars, open platforms, when one passenger took hold of another passenger's hand in order to safely negotiate the distance from one car to another, especially when the wind was blowing. It was in 1887, Ike and Tommy are of the opinion they are the only two remaining citizens of that tourist party. They tell some interesting stories about the early Santa Ana. Ike says wild mustard grew so high the birds built their nests in it, and he used to cut the stalks for fire wood, and if I hadn't stopped him he would have built a bungalow in it.

And then there was the fellow who couldn't get a job because he didn't want one. Consequently there are added rally to the relief rolls those who will not work if they can keep from it. And on the other hand there are the deserving ones on relief who would work if they could. Industry is a virtue, indolence something else.

And the fern friend says, wish me well, with the further information that it was a domestic collapse. That's when the attorney says for me not to talk.

Savants look forward to the time and near the time when rocket motors will carry scientific apparatus 1000 miles above the earth at a speed of 11,000 miles an hour, and I have seen youthful dreamers who tried to do the same on a highway. They are not with us any more.

Assessor Jim Sleeper talked to the Anaheim Lions club Friday on politics. It couldn't have been on politics, as he hasn't any competition this year.

An organization known as the "Wrecking Crew" is building skids to put under the official Rotary club personnel next Tuesday. This system has been going on for several years and has been effective. None of the "skidded" have ever been able to come back.

And then the little flurry between two columnists is about to be settled by the amicable service of a party whose business it is to see that folks get along without quarreling. Of course all of

BUYERS SWARM MARKET, BOOST STOCKS TO HIGH POINT OF '38

VETERANS REVIEW ARMY AND LEGION

GETTSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Three thousand regular army troops and hundreds of gayly uniformed Legionnaires and drum and bugle corps gathered beneath overcast skies on this historic battlefield today to "strut their stuff" for the wearers of the blue and gray.

Veterans of all the nation's wars and 30 uniformed musical organizations of patriotic groups joined in the three-mile long procession before the 2000 aged Civil war veterans and state dignitaries, sitting in canopied stadium stands.

The two-hour military and musical parade was a prelude to the appearance tomorrow of President Roosevelt at this last joint reunion of the blue and gray on the 75th anniversary of the great battle.

Standing on a hill overlooking the rolling battlefield, the President will dedicate the $60,000 "terrace light" peace memorial, erected as an inspiration and "challenge to noble endeavor of a young and hopeful America."

FLAME "FOREVER" — As the sun sinks behind the Blue Ridge mountains, a flame will be lighted atop the 55-foot shaft to burn "forever" as a symbol of "peace eternal in a nation united."

Later, army cavalrymen will ride in review on the ground where Pickett made his famous charge, while airplanes drench overhead and a 48-gun salute is fired to the nation.

The first rain during the encampment, meantime, brought from the camp medical staff expressions of concern as to the effect it might have on the veterans' health.

31 IN HOSPITALS — Lieut. Colo. Paul R. Hawley, commanding officer of the first medical regiment, U. S. army, and re-united surgeon, said he was "watching the weather closely because it's one of our greatest allies or greatest dangers."

Maj. Gen. Charles R. Reynolds, surgeon-general in the army, inspected the camp and visited 31 veterans in hospitals. He said the only one was in a serious condition and he was improving.

The fears of the medical staff were not shared by the old soldiers, at whose physical ability Colonel Hawley said he marveled. The veterans went right ahead with their re-union activities.

McCormick Arrives For Heir's Funeral — ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Col. Robert McCormick, Chicago publisher, arrived here by air today to attend funeral services for Medill McCormick, the nephew who had planned to follow his footsteps in the newspaper business.

How To Go There And Back All In One Piece

We especially want to call your attention to the hazards of our highways over the Fourth of July week-end.

In an effort to increase highway safety, our department calls attention of all motorists to the fact that they should use great caution at all times if on the highways during this three-day holiday period.

Particularly in Orange county, all of our highways will be crowded and dangerous at all times.

Motorists should be particularly cautious and watch for any of the following violations:

1. Improper passing — which might be divided into four classes:

U. S. MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF ENGLISH TENNIS TITLES

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP) — Topped by another controversial victory for Helen Wills Moody over her California rival, Helen Jacobs, America completed a clean sweep of all five titles in the all-England tennis championships today.

Miss Jacobs, after fighting fiercely through the first set of her match with Mrs. Moody for the women's singles crown, suffered an ankle injury that left her virtually helpless and Mrs. Moody quickly polished her off, 6-4, 6-0.

Don Budge, red headed Oakland, Calif., ace who retained his men's singles crown yesterday, shared in two more titles. He and Gene Mako of Los Angeles halted Henri Henkel and George von Metaxa

Such compact are authorized in a naval petroleum conservation bill which President Roosevelt has signed into law.

The bill would permit consolidation of government holdings in the Kern county, Calif., naval petroleum reserves by exchange of acreage with the Standard Oil company of California.

The bill's purpose is to prevent the drainage of oil from the government reserves by the drilling of wells on private properties which overlie petroleum pools common to both properties.

IMPROVEMENT IN INDUSTRY BRINGS RUSH

NEW YORK (AP) — Ignoring vacation lull, buyers swarmed into Wall Street today and bid many stocks up $1 to around $4 to the highest prices of the mid-year bull market.

Despite the temptation to lighten speculative accounts and take off for seashore and mountain for the long week-end over Fourth of July, trading kept up the fast pace of recent sessions.

INDUSTRY GAINS — It was one of the busiest Saturday sessions on the stock exchange in recent years. Big lots of steel, motor, oil, copper, aviation and other industrial shares changed hands around the trading posts in the rush of belated buyers to get in on the bull movement.

Reports industry was showing broadening signs of improvement since the market suddenly cast off gloom and inertia two weeks ago seemed to bring in new orders from all parts of the country.

MOTORS UP — Motor stocks were taken out of the market in sizable blocks. Chrysler at one time was up more than $4 to around $67, a new 1938 peak.

Reports from Detroit said automobile sales, especially higher priced cars, had picked up since the rising stock market began to work like magic in changing sentiment in financial circles.

The big gains of the last two weeks were stretched for such shares as U. S. Steel, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Westinghouse and American Can. The last two crossed $100 to the cheers of brokers and boardroom followers who in mid-June were languishing amid the smallest security market dealings since the early post war dull periods.

STEEL SCRAP GAINS — General Motors finished at $38.75, up $1.50; U. S. Steel $60.62, up $1.62; Bethlehem $62, up $1.12; Anaconda Copper $34.50, up $1.50; Kennecott Copper $41.50, up $1.50; Union Carbide $51.25, up $1.87; Douglas Aircraft $50.12, up $1.25 and Westinghouse Electric $100.75, up $1.25.

Another increase of 25 cents a ton in the price of steel scrap, extending the gain on the upturn to about $250 a ton, helping focus attention on the steel industry on the possibility the rise in scrap might forecast expansion in mill operations after the Fourth of July holiday.

Liner Aground In St. Lawrence River — MONTREAL (AP) — The Cunard White Star liner, Ascania, with 400 passengers aboard went aground today in the St. Lawrence river near Big Island, 150 miles northeast of Quebec. Passengers were transferred safely to the Canadian Pacific cargo liner Beaverford.

President Will Sail From San Diego on Pacific Cruise — HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP) — President Roosevelt's trip to the Pacific congealed today into a man-sized campaign and sight-seeing tour.

Starting from Washington July 7, the President will speak from platforms, converse with people and look over the country all the way to San Diego.

At San Diego he will leave behind the activity of this year's congressional campaigns on July 16 for a two weeks' cruise of the Pacific and a trip through the Panama canal to a southeastern harbor.

The schedule was announced as the President spent his last day at home entertaining royalty. Crown Princess Louise of Sweden was his guest. For her, he arranged a picnic on the hill top site of his new summer home.

Where 2 Boys Fell To Death

This is the jagged, knife-like North Sandia peak which took the lives of Medill McCormick, heir to a Chicago publishing fortune, and Richard Whitmer, his mountain climbing companion. Whitmer's body was found at the spot indicated by arrow, and McCormick's was located on the back side, almost directly through the peak from where his pal's body was located. Woodsmen theorized lightning might have sent the boys tumbling down the narrow crest, Whitmer down one side and McCormick down the other.

Struck by an automobile as he walked across the coast highway at Corona del Mar last night, Claude Holman, 74-year-old Balboa real estate man, was killed instantly.

PEACE IN CHINA, AIM

Division of Nation Into 5 Areas Projected

BULLETIN — WASHINGTON (AP) — The American consul at Swatow, China, reported today to the state department that the Rev. William D. Downs, of Meadville, Pa., a Catholic missionary, was slightly wounded when Japanese planes bombed Swatow. The consul, Whitney Young, said other Americans were safe. Father Downs' house was demolished. Latest state department records listed 29 Americans at Swatow.

By the Associated Press — A plan came to the front today to end the nearly year-old China war by parceling out the country's economic treasures to Japan, Germany, Britain and France and by establishing five autonomous areas with a government for each.

Japan would be the dominant factor in three of these governments. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek would be offered central China for his regime at Hankow.

JAPAN'S PLAN — There was, of course, no official confirmation of the plan and it was deemed unlikely that General Chiang would consider it. It was, however, seen as an indication of the basis on which Japan would like to end the war.

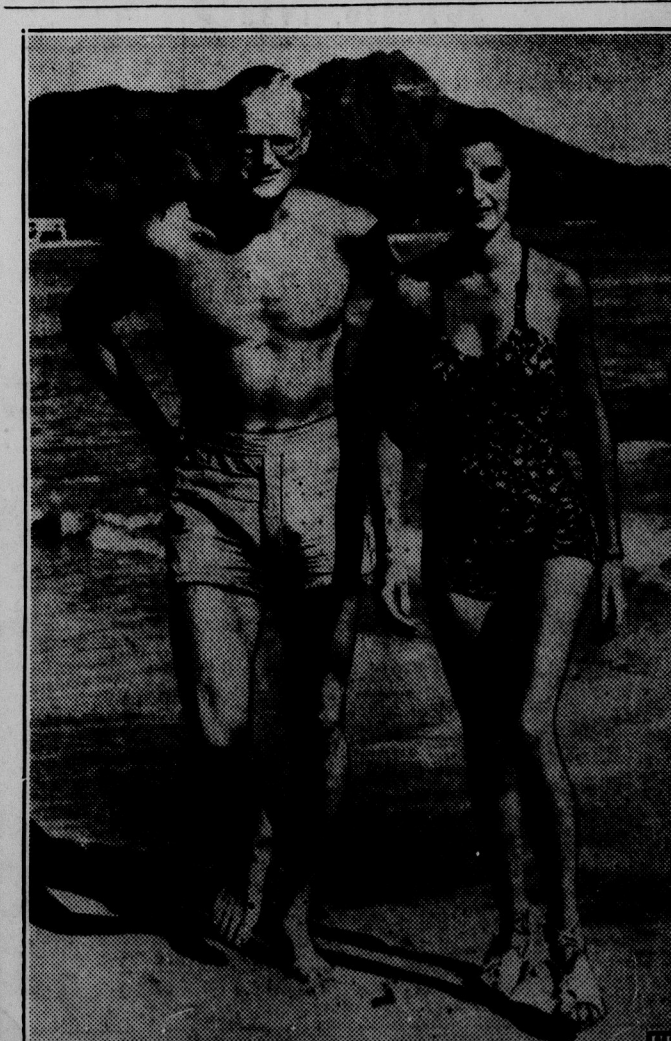

Authorship of the plan was attributed to the Peiping provisional government and its Japanese advisors.

Economically the lineup would be: Japan in north China, inner Mongolia; Germany in Shantung, where she was a pre-world war power; Britain in the lower Yangtze, including Shanghai; France, in south China. This roughly takes in areas in which Japan, France and Britain in the past have concentrated industrial investment.

FRANCE SLAPS JAPS — The French government, meanwhile, took a slap at Japan by suspending importation of Japanese quota merchandise, about one-fourth of Japanese exports to France. The actual trade affected was negligible, one-half of one per cent of Japan's total exports. The principal reason for the slap probably was France's fear for security of her Indo-China, spurred by recent Japanese bombings of nearby Hainan Island.

ALIENS MAY FLEE — HONGKONG. (AP) — Evacuation of all foreigners from the Chinese port of Swatow appeared likely tonight after a second punishing bombardment by Japanese warplanes concentrating on the city's railway station.

Senate Committee Expected To Probe Mayor Hague's Activities

MANY REQUEST INVESTIGATION IN JERSEY CITY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate civil liberties committee, probably will turn its attention to Mayor Frank Hague and complaints against Jersey City policies before congress meets again.

Chairman La Follette (Prog., Wis.), has parried questions about this subject for weeks. He has replied to them by saying the special committee must first wind up its inquiries in the field of labor relations and by mentioning limited funds.

The committee recently received an additional $60,000 from the senate, however, and expects to complete the labor relations inquiry within the month.

Committee investigators said they had a "thick file of requests" for an investigation of the Hague regime in New Jersey.

Among these requests are those from Reps. O'Connell (D., Mont.), and Bernard (F., Minn.), house members who failed to keep a widely publicized speaking engagement in Jersey City, and Norman Thomas, Socialist leader.

The senate resolution creating the special committee two years ago directed it "to make an investigation of violations of the rights of free speech and assembly."

Labor Leaders have contended that Hague has abrogated rights of free speech and assembly in combatting what he termed CIO "reds" and communists in Jersey City.

The women's doubles was won by Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabryan who defeated the defending champions, Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Adeline (Billy) Yorke of England, 6-2, 6-3.

No sooner had Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs quit Wimbledon's center court than the flame of controversy swept the capacity crowd.

Mrs. Moody was roundly criticized in some quarters for making no gesture to allow Miss Jacobs to rest when it became obvious the younger star was in pain.

PREFERS JAIL TO SURRENDER TO U. S. MEN

Tony Lopez, 32, Los Angeles, wanted to go back to Mexico instead of serving a six-month jail sentence—he wanted to go back under his own power. Justice Kenneth Morrison didn't quite see it that way.

Lopez was arrested by highway patrolmen last night and booked in the county jail on drunk driving and misdemeanor hit-and-run charges after his car had struck another auto on North Main street.

"Do you want to go back to Mexico?" Judge Morrison asked him after the defendant had pleaded guilty this morning.

"Sure, I guess that would be all right," said Lopez.

"I'll sentence you to six months in jail," said the court, "and if the immigration officers want to deport you we'll release you to them."

"I don't want to do that," protested Lopez. "I want to go back my own way."

His request denied, Lopez went to jail.

Death-Car Driver To Support Widow

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—San Pedro cafe operator, whose automobile killed Ernest Kirchner as he crossed a street last February, must work for a year in the county road camp, using part of his earnings to support Kirchner's widow and her four children.

That was the ruling on file today in Superior Judge Charles A. Haas' court. Haas, declaring that "the interests of society will be best served by keeping this man out of the penitentiary," ordered Gus Harbilas to pay at least $10 month from his road camp earnings to Mrs. Kirchner. Harbilas pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge.

FIELD WORKERS ASK FIVE-CENT WAGE INCREASE

Representatives of the Orange County Mexican Agricultural union, composed of truck farm field workers in this area, will ask the state labor commission at a meeting in Los Angeles this month for a five-cent hourly wage increase.

Under an agreement in operation between the union and Japanese truck farmers the workers are receiving 30 cents an hour with time and one-half for overtime for both men and women.

The only wage change asked is a boost to 35 cents per hour. The petition, which will be presented to the labor commissioner representative in Los Angeles, in the presence of agents for the employers and the union, says: "Due to the financial status of the Mexican field workers to meet the necessities of life socially and otherwise, we are hereby requesting the increase of the wage scale from 30 cents to 35 cents per hour for a nine-hour day. The 30 cents an hour continues to cause a low standard of living. Therefore, in view of the present social condition and our desire for a better future life, we are asking a 35 cents per hour wage scale to run successfully for a period of six months ending Jan. 31, 1939."

The petition recognizes that "in view of the mutual understanding that has prevailed for the past four years (between growers and workers) we earnestly request continuance of each clause as set forth in the award of Dec. 29, 1937 for a period of one year beginning July 30, 1938 to July 31, 1939."

The union alleges that for the past three months migratory labor has increased, causing local workers to receive a 35 per cent lower income than in 1937.

The surplus of transitory laborers is giving growers a great advantage," the petition asserts. "The workers' weekly wage has been reduced to an average of a three-day-week, thereby making a yearly income of 120 days and causing a decrease of 30 per cent per capita among the workers in Orange county."

The acreage of each grower who has been in farming for the past three years has been enlarged instead of lessened, the petition further stated, assuming that the small farmer has abandoned his farm and has joined the working field "or has merged to a larger and better condition."

The petition is signed by Pablo de la Cruz, representative of the union and Lucas Lucio, representing organized and non-organized Mexican laborers of Orange county.

Lucio states that about 400 members of the union are permanent residents in Orange county. The request will be brought to the attention of the board of arbitration for Mexican workers and Japanese farmers in Orange county at a meeting before the close of the month.

Why the July 4 Celebration? It's Not Commemoration of Famed Declaration Signing

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Ask the first 100 Americans you meet today why the United States celebrates July 4 and about 90 of them will give the wrong answer. Odds are, they'll reply:

"Because it's the anniversary of the signing of the declaration of independence."

That's wrong—by 29 days. The declaration—say library of congress officials who ought to know because they've got the famous document—was passed by congress on July 4, 1776.

But it was not until Aug. 2 that the 56 signers put their names on it. Some of them were not even members of congress on the fourth.

"They just let them sign it," explained an attaché of the library's historical section, "to be courteous and not hurt anybody's feelings."

There's still a lot of historical confusion about the declaration, and the library doubts if it will ever get straightened out.

For instance—who's brain child was the document?

Evidence shows that on June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee laid before the congress a resolution that the colonies be considered free and independent.

A committee got the resolution just as a committee gets a resolution today. Young Thomas Jefferson got his hands on it and probably did far more than anybody else about it.

People are constantly asking the library when George Washington signed the bill that gave America its liberty.

He didn't—he wasn't President until 1789.

CLOUDBURST IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, (AP)—A cloudburst drenched central Illinois today while farmers of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin estimated crop losses at millions.

In Fulton county, damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by heavy rain accompanied by high wind. The storm struck a wide area near Canton and flattened nearly ripened wheat crops and many fields of corn.

In the northern part of the state 17 bridges were reported out. There was no prospect of a break in the wet spell.

Magazine Sued For $1,500,000

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A $1,500,000 copyright infringement suit was filed here by Godwin Bourne Swift, San Francisco photographer, against the Look magazine of Des Moines, Ia.

Swift charged that in its issue of Oct. 31, 1937, the magazine used photographs taken by Swift's father, the late Sidney B. Swift. The suit alleged that the magazine had not obtained permission to publish the photographs, which were pictures of the late Father Damien, famed priest who was the friend and benefactor of lepers.

Teachers' Leader Defends Liquor

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Dr. Reuben T. Shaw, Philadelphia high school teacher elected president of the National Education association this week, today defended the American Legion's educational policies against recent criticism by a group of nationally known educators.

The Legion was called "fascist and unpatriotic" in a statement released by the Teachers' college of Columbia university at the opening of the N. E. A. convention Monday.

KERN MAN ENDS LIFE

BODY FOUND IN CABIN

Death overtook Mrs. Carrie Fiske, 69, as she lay in bed in a Silverado canyon cabin last night, Coroner Earl Abbey and sheriff's officers reported today.

Officers were called to break into the cabin after Mrs. Raye Ballard, 415 South Ross street, Mrs. Fiske's niece, found the door locked shortly after 9 p. m. yesterday and sensed trouble.

The body was taken to the Shannon Funeral home, Orange, where funeral arrangements are being made.

FIREARMS BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt has signed a bill requiring the licensing of interstate firearms shipments. The bill outlaws shipments to any person who is under indictment, who has been convicted of a crime of violence or who is a fugitive from justice.

WOMAN KILLED ON EVE OF 2D 'HONEYMOON'

SEATTLE, (AP)—Charles F. Butte, 58-year-old financial advisor, was jailed today after police found his wife beaten to death in her bed at the hour the couple had planned to start "a second honeymoon."

Detective Chief Ernest Yoris said Butte was arrested when an autopsy indicated his wife was dead at 5 a. m., more than three hours before Butte said he left her apartment.

Butte said he went to her apartment again last evening when she failed to keep an appointment to go on a second honeymoon. He found her dead from three blows on the head.

Chief Coroner's Deputy Harlan Callahan said the apartment was in great disorder.

"Whoever killed the woman," he said, "evidently attempted to make it look like the crime was committed by a prowler."

Butte said he met his wife, then Mrs. Maude Zigler, in Long Beach, and they were married in Sept. 1934, in Reno, Nev. They were living in separate quarters in Seattle, he said, "to avoid quarrels."

Medical Economics 'Century Behind'

SEATTLE, (AP)—The majority of the American medical profession was accused of being "a century behind the times in medical economics," by Andrew J. Biemiller, Wisconsin legislator, at the national conference of social work here today.

"Organized medicine has taken an extremely short sighted view of the problem of medical care for the wage-earning group," he said.

"The very poor and the very rich do not have to worry about medical care. But the man earning $20 to $50 a week is denied medical services. Anyway, he does not want charity and prefers to get along as best he can."

Sheppard Promises Probe Of County WPA Administration

COMPLAINTS OF MEN TOLD CONGRESSMAN

"Careful inquiry" into sensational charges involving Orange county WPA administration was promised today by Congressman Harry R. Sheppard, who conferred yesterday afternoon with a score of WPA workers and ex-workers. Charges of Los Angeles domination, firing of county men for political favorites and relatives, coercion and useless "employees" were hurled during the session.

Sheppard said he was "absolutely opposed" to hiring of Los Angeles engineers and white-collar workers replacing local men who thus assertedly have been shifted to direct relief rolls at $15 a month.

TWO-HOUR CONFERENCE
Meeting quietly in the supervisors' room of the courthouse, Sheppard talked for two hours with the delegation, whose members' names are not made public because many since the old county setup was thrown overboard in favor of control by U. S. army officers who had administered Los Angeles county work.

Officials there had promised time congressman several months ago that Orange county men would not be laid off to make room for men from outside, but that outside help would be used only when men of similar ability were not available here.

COMMUTE FROM L. A. CO.
The Los Angeles engineers, the workers charged, receive salaries and mileage from the government—the latter not from their homes but based on a "home project" in Orange county. The outside men, they said, commute from Los Angeles and Long Beach daily. Only one of them, they maintained, has established a residence here—and that only since he was given the job.

She, and's private investigation follows by two months an official probe into similar charges, which saw a delegation of Los Angeles executives meet with Orange county Democratic leaders, who had entered the protest.

PARK JOB SHUT DOWN
One man charged that the Orange city park project had been suddenly shut down—with $65,000 still in the joint fund for its continuation.

Another reported that two auditors had arrived recently to check one set of books—and had spent 10 days at it.

Some of the others told these stories:

"I was a foreman, and they told me I did good work. All of a sudden they shut down my project and told me I was going to work as a laborer. Two days later they told me to report to the office. They put me on direct relief—$15 a month, and I'm trying to support my family."

NO PARTY—NO JOB
"One night I went out with a few of the bosses on my project," said another. "Two days after that one of their assistants came to me and told me I'd get a raise in classification. I did—but I didn't get a raise in pay. Later the same fellow came to me and suggested I'd better throw a party for the bosses, and then maybe I'd get the raise. I told him I wouldn't and couldn't do it. Now I'm out of a job."

Another man said that the husband of a cafe owner, without dependents, had been given his job—although the man fired had job dependents.

Supplied with names, dates and facts by the delegation, Sheppard said he would "certainly look into this."

"I hope to get some of these administrators together soon," Sheppard said, "and I hope you'll all be there."

Police News

Fred Merker, manager of the Southern Counties Gas company, complained to police two men have been using the company's name to sell smoothtops for gas stoves in a racket discovered by employees this week. The men, Merker said, usually collect $2 and inform the purchaser the gas company will collect the balance. "We do not have or sell smoothtops for gas stoves," Merker told police.

Property damage only resulted from a collision between cars driven by Max Solomon, 1117 South Van Ness street, and Joseph Erwin, Santa Ana, between Fourth and Fifth streets on Sycamore yesterday.

Adline Crament, Route 3, Box 217, Santa Ana, reported to Santa Ana police the loss of a $14 check issued by the Betz company, Monrovia. She had not endorsed it.

Someone has been firing bullets from a .22 rifle into his yard, A. B. Scholes, 1112 Cypress street, reported to police.

Snow-Spangler Situation Likely to Have Political Reaction in Orange County

By FRANK ORR

Belle Spangler has become an issue.

Instead of being simply assistant director of the welfare department, she has become a cause celebre like Helen of Troy or Joan of Arc.

On the face of it, the clean-cut, the-courthouse boys lost out Thursday afternoon. As campaign material they believe they gained a lot.

Supervisor John Mitchell, for instance, cast the deciding vote, unseating Director Jack Snow. His vote won him some support—and lost some; how much of each will be unknown until election. His opponents think they have gained something more to fight him on.

Supervisor N. E. West, for another, apparently lost out. He, too, faces a campaign—and yesterday's ousting of Snow and endorsement of Mrs. Spangler gives the always politically alert Laguna more grist for his campaign mill.

It furnishes ammunition, too, for opponents of Chairman Willard Smith, who opposed Snow's appointment in the first place and Thursday voted in effect for Mrs. Spangler and against the director.

Whether their interpretation is right or not—and there's still room for argument on that—campaigners who want to clean out the courthouse will say that Supervisors Smith, Finley and Mitchell: 1. Put the board on record as wanting direct control of patronage in the welfare department, and as standing ready to fire a director who refuses to obey them.

2. Punished by discharge, without determining their truth or falsity, a department head who made serious charges against a subordinate—punished him not because the charges were untrue or unjustified, but simply because he made them.

Smith, Finley and Mitchell see and believe things the other way. They say they fired Snow because of the constant turmoil in his department, and because he failed to cooperate with Finley.

Workman, who lives in Santa Ana, is a graduate of the University of California and was a member of the Olympic Games world championship crew in 1932.

"I'm sorry to lose him," said Jackson. "He has been a splendid officer."

BOSS PAYS BUT AIDES EXEMPT
Although required to make employer contributions from Jan. 1 on, Orange county employers who became subject to pay contributions to the state unemployment trust fund after the first of the year will not be responsible for employee contributions until their status has been decided.

This ruling of the California employment service was announced today by the local division office.

If an employer has the required amount of employment during 1938, it was explained, he is subject to pay his own contribution on the total payroll from Jan. 1 on, but he need not make deductions from the paychecks of his employees until it has been decided he is subject to pay contributions.

That is, if he became subject on July 1, he would be responsible for the employee part of the contributions only from that date on.

Whether or not silk is weighted cannot be determined just by feeling it.

65 BOYS GO TO SCOUT CAMP NEXT TUESDAY

Sixty-five Orange county boys will go to Boy Scout Camp Ro-Ko-Li in the San Bernardino mountains next Tuesday to enjoy a week's outing. Scout Executive Harrison White announced this morning. He says that reservations for the second and third weeks of the camp are practically filled.

A new group of lads will journey to the camp each week. Boys wishing to stay a longer period, however, may do so by paying an additional small fee to take care of the cost of their food and other expenses.

The camp has a capacity for 110 boys, White said. It will be open for the boys until Aug. 9. The Girl Scouts, first to occupy the retreat this year, will return to Orange county next Tuesday.

As Ro-Ko-Li is the only camp in the area which has electricity, forestry officials this year are donating the use of a motion picture machine and supplying films of an instructive nature to train the youths in an appreciation of the forests and the duties of the men who take care of them.

All boys in Orange county are eligible to attend the camp, White said. Each lad is charged a small fee for the privilege and he must live up to the regulations prescribed by the scout officials in charge.

AUTO THEFT CHARGE FILED

Lupe Figueroa, 23, Stanton laborer, was returned here yesterday to face trial on auto theft charges, following completion of a traffic violation sentence in San Diego.

Figueroa is accused of stealing a strawberry truck from Stanton two weeks ago. He was arrested by highway patrolmen north of Oceanside a short time later, and was given a jail sentence on charges of speeding and driving without a license. He was arraigned today before Justice Kenneth Morrison, who set bail at $1000 pending preliminary hearing next Wednesday.

The research that leads to progress in this country takes about one cent out of each dollar made in industry and agriculture.

DEPUTY QUITS TO TAKE L. A. POSITION

Deputy Sheriff James Workman resigned today to take a position as investigator for a corporation in Los Angeles.

Resignation of Workman, who has been in the sheriff's office for the past four years, was announced by Sheriff Logan Jackson. Jackson said Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart would take over Workman's duties in the criminal division, and that Duhart's place would be filled from the present relief crew without additions to the force.

"My association with the office has been most pleasant," wrote Workman in resigning. "The training and experience received in your organization have been valuable factors in making this promotion possible and I am truly grateful. I sincerely hope you will be successful in your campaign for re-election and able to continue maintaining the high quality of law enforcement for which you have been known as sheriff of Orange county for the past seven and one-half years."

Workman, who lives in Santa Ana, is a graduate of the University of California and was a member of the Olympic Games world championship crew in 1932.

"I'm sorry to lose him," said Jackson. "He has been a splendid officer."

Big Dogs, Little Dogs, Tall Dogs and Short Dogs--125 In All--Compete for Prizes

Pups and big dogs, mutts and purebreds—97 separate entries, all told—yipped and squealed in the parking lot at the rear of the new Super Market Spot, 2201 North Main street, yesterday morning. And what's more, there were no fights, hardly a growl.

Idea was to find which was the longest, shortest, tallest, best family and most uniquely dressed—and there were prizes, mostly dog food, for all. A census showed there were more than 125 Santa Ana canine pets in attendance, though the families all qualified on the same entry.

Mayor Fred Rowland, Police Chief Floyd Howard and Roy W. Siden, judges, awarded major prizes to the division winners: Donald Honer, Santa Ana, baseball bat; R. Honer, Santa Ana, baseball glove; Beverly Cole, Josephine Colger, Doris McBride, Gene Robinson, Virginia Graves, all of Santa Ana; Mildred Maahs, Orange, and Carl Johannessen, Fullerton, each a pair of roller skates, and Patricia and Mary McGee, Santa Ana, dog license good for one year.

Sponsored by Elvin Milbrat, owner-operator of the Super Market Spot, the parade and show celebrated the market's grand opening. Each dog in the show received a can of Ideal dog food.

DILLINGER HAS PERITONITIS, DOCTORS FIND

Clyde Dillinger, 30-year-old cousin of the late gangster John Dillinger, grew weaker today in the county hospital as peritonitis set in following an almost fatal gunshot wound last Sunday.

Dr. Ralph E. White, hospital physician attending the former Oklahoma convict, said Dillinger had taken a turn for the worse in the past 24 hours, and that the peritonitis had resulted in a generally weaker condition.

Dillinger was shot Sunday afternoon as he stood in the back yard of a Midway City home, a high speed rifle bullet piercing his lower abdomen.

Charles Calhoun, 28, former fellow inmate of an Oklahoma penitentiary with Dillinger, surrendered to officers and admitted shooting Dillinger with a 30-30 rifle because of the latter's alleged mistreatment of Calhoun's women relatives. Calhoun awaits preliminary hearing on charges of attempted murder.

NAB MAN ON CHECK CHARGE

Nabbed by sheriff's officers when he returned to his Long Beach home shortly after midnight this morning, R. A. French, 40, Long Beach salesman, was arraigned today on bad check charges and released on his own recognizance pending preliminary hearing next Wednesday.

French was arrested by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey and James Musick, who waited for him at his Long Beach home for several hours. Justice Kenneth Morrison allowed French to go on his own recognizance on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker.

JACKSON SUIT MAY SETTLE FEE QUESTION

Preparing to bring a superior court action against Sheriff Logan Jackson which may determine the entire issue in the board of supervisors' "fee squabble" with five county officials, Edgar B. Hervey, San Diego attorney and special counsel for the county board, was in Santa Ana today.

Hervey said he would confer with several of the officials who claim they have fees coming from the county. Most of the officers, Hervey said he had learned, have not collected their statutory fees, which still remain in the treasury.

Because the county is in possession of the money, and because no legal dispute exists, he explained, the county probably cannot bring suit against the officials who themselves may have to sue to get the money they say is due them. He said a petition for an alternative writ of mandate, now on file with the appellate court in San Diego, probably would be dismissed without prejudice.

Hervey's action against Jackson, however, may determine the entire question. He will file suit in superior court here against the sheriff, demanding an accounting not only of alleged profits from feeding prisoners for the past seven and a half years, but an accounting of fees formerly allowed the sheriff but demanded by the county when supervisors passed their salary ordinance last year.

Should the court decide the county entitled to an accounting of those fees, Hervey said, the same decision probably would apply to the other four officials—Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, Health Officer Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Coroner Earl Abbey and Recorder Fred Sidesbottom.

Woman's $750 Suit Charges Fraud

Charging that Adam F. Zaiser, Santa Ana and Tustin real estate man, fraudulently appropriated and embezzled $750 from sale of her property, Marie E. Borchard filed suit against him today in Santa Ana justice court.

Zaiser, she alleged, sold real estate for her in July, 1936, and kept the $750 proceeds. She asks judgment for that amount, plus $150 she says she has spent in trying to get the money, in addition to 7 per cent interest.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By MILLARD BROWNE

BANG!! POOF!!

Whoosh... And $4000 goes up in smoke in Santa Ana, twice that in the rest of the county as youngsters and oldsters join to celebrate American independence with a noisy, colorful blowoff of fireworks that officially begins early Monday morning, ends late that night.

The boys will specialize on noise, the girls will go in for color and the old folks will either sit and watch or shoot off expensive night displays.

In Santa Ana, there's law that says you can't shoot off fireworks. They're working for a more satisfactory law that can be put into effect all over the county, but for the time being, the fire department figures it's permissible to use fireworks—if it's done sanely.

The elaborate displays will be at Newport, where an $800 investment by the city makes the beach blow-off as large as any on the coast, and at Huntington Beach where fireworks will have a leading part in the three-day July 4 celebration.

VACATION BOUND

The "I Just Found Out" department takes a two-week vacation after today, and it's not because Orange County has run out of things that need finding out about, either.

It's because the "I Just Found Out" man has been assigned the job of finding out about vacations, and the assignment will require two weeks of constant attention.

Watch for the post-vacation column July 13. And after that, there will be others... about hot springs, salt plants, politicians, burial customs, and a lot more subjects.

Only change in this year's fireworks assortment will be two or three novelty numbers. Popular items will be the same as ever—big and little firecrackers, sparklers, sky rockets, Roman candles, torpedoes, cap pistols.

Average investment in fireworks by the little fellow will be from $1 to $2.50, and most of them have saved it up from allowances and earnings. One topped long and earnestly over a firecracker counter, carefully selected an 89-cent supply, counted out the 89 pennies he'd saved. Most of the youngsters invest right up to your last penny, which makes the 1-cent package of firecrackers popular numbers as just "loose change."

This year, as in the past, nearly all small fireworks were imported from China, but prices to wholesalers were sky-high this season because of duties and a Chinese shortage. That's because firecracker powder is too valuable for ammunition when war's going on. Real shortage will be felt all next summer, dealers predict.

Hand-made by coolie labor, a 5-cent package of Chinese "crackers" would cost $1 if made the same way in this country. Low-grade gunpowder is tapped into each one, then wrapped by hand over in the country where the fireworks was started.

Santa Ana's only real Chinese fireworks merchant—William Quan, who runs a shop on East Fourth street—explains the tradition, and he should know because he just came over here from Canton two years ago.

"People shoot fireworks every holiday in China," Quan points out. "They all want to make big noise—kids and old people too." It started two or three thousand years ago, he explains. "Fireworks just show people happy, want to celebrate—just like drinking beer or wine over in this country."

Two main fireworks days in China are Oct. 10, Chinese Independence day, and Jan. 15, which is New Year's day on the old calendar. They day fireworks on every other holiday too, and most families hold their own celebrations on the anniversary of the death of a beloved ancestor.

Quan's whole stock came from China. It includes four strings each containing 20,000 assorted big and little firecrackers, which would make enough noise to honor even the most famous Chinese ancestor.

Biggest stock in town is handled by the Rotary club's Boy Scout troop No. 24 which buys "crackers" for its own stand and a half dozen other Boy Scout stands, wholesales fireworks to other Boy Scout organizations; proceeds go toward a trip into Oregon later in the summer and to finish paying for the troop's truck. Biggest private stock is handled at the Famous.

Selling fireworks requires no special business license fee, but it does take a special permit from Fire Chief John Luxembourg, who insists that displays be enclosed in wire cages. Main idea of the permit fee is so the firemen will know just where fireworks displays are located.

Old city ordinance forbade shooting of fireworks in town, but permitted sale of them. Firemen figure that isn't quite fair, so with

Newport Beach Plans $254,000 Bond Election August 30

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE FINANCED BY PWA, LOAN

NEWPORT BEACH.—Proposed civic improvements totaling $461,000 will be put up to the citizens of Newport Beach—probably at a bond election held in connection with the August 30 primary—it was indicated today as the city council prepared for final action on the elaborate improvement project at its Monday night meeting.

The bond election, it was understood, will be to float a $254,000 issue, the balance of the extensive program to be financed through PWA.

Meeting in special session to set machinery in motion in time to qualify for PWA aid, the city council this week referred the entire $461,000 program to the planning commission, which gave a last-minute perusal last night prior to final action by the council at its regular meeting Monday.

Mayor H. H. Williamson's "Committee of Fifty" presented its report to the council earlier in the week, recommending bond and PWA financing of the following projects:

1. Water system extension, including additional fire protection mains on Balboa Island, $140,000.
2. Sewer repairs and reconstruction, $123,000.
3. City hall site, building, furnishings and grounds, $80,000.
4. Public landing and dock at Balboa, improvements on Main street, parking area in front of Rendezvous, $75,000 ($40,000 for wharf and dock, $20,000 for pairs, $15,000 for street improvements and parking).
5. Public wharf and dock at Corona del Mar, tieing in with projected bay ferry service, $10,000.
6. Recreational center at Corona del Mar, $50,000.
7. Lighting central business district, $80,000.
8. Safety repairs to Newport pier, $50,000.
9. Lighting in West Newport area, $50,000.

$130,500 GRANT FOR SCHOOL

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Already scheduled to go to the polls July 8 to decide the fate of a $600,000 high school bond issue, Capistrano district voters today had a new incentive to approve the issue, reduced from the $180,000 issue they turned down several months ago.

The Public Works administration, dispatches from Washington revealed, has tentatively approved the district's original application for a $130,500 grant.

The application, however, was made before the last bond election was called and was contingent on passage of the bond issue. In event the July 8 vote is favorable, the PWA grant would be cut to approximately $50,000 to match the local funds on a 45-55 ratio for construction of additions to the present high school plant.

Failure of the bond issue to pass, it was understood, would cancel the PWA grant.

F. D. R. NOT TO BUCK VAN NUYS

INDIANAPOLIS. (AP)—U. S. Senator Sherman Minton (D., Ind.), a staunch supporter of the New Deal, said today neither President Roosevelt nor his chief political advisor, Postmaster General James A. Farley, would attempt to block a rapidly spreading movement among Hoosier Democrats to renominate his senior colleague, Senator Frederick Van Nuys, at their state convention here July 12.

"So far as both President Roosevelt and Jim Farley are concerned," Minton said, "the Indiana Democrats are perfectly capable of making their own selection. They are not taking any interest in the Indiana situation." Van Nuys, who was rebuked publicly last August by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend for his opposition to the President's court reorganization bill, has announced plans to seek re-election as an independent if denied the Democratic nomination.

consent of other city officials, they wink at the ordinance, pending adoption of a new countywide one sponsored by the county fire chiefs' association. Firemen keep their fingers crossed, point out they haven't had a fire call on the Fourth of July for years and years.

Most dangerous fireworks from firemen's standpoint are Roman candles, sky rockets and other aerial displays with falling embers; safer ones are sparklers and non-explosives. Most likely to cause personal injury, of course, are the explosive "crackers."

Majority of the bigger firecrackers this year—and all of the night works and aerial displays—are made in the United States, the explosive ones being nothing more or less than dynamite, and Scoutmaster Franklin Nickey, Jr., of the Rotary club troop takes care that his young salesmen realize they're "playing with dynamite."

THE FORD EMPIRE has for its head lean Henry Ford and his son, Edsel (right), who recently celebrated the Ford Motor Company's thirty-fifth anniversary with an inspection of a $400,000 expansion project which will widen the industrialist's already vast motor kingdom. With thirty-five years behind them, they are thus still most interested in looking forward.

BEACH CITIES BEGIN TO FILL UP FOR JULY 4

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Beauty and brains, athletic proficiency and super-appetites all stood to win prizes, as "youngsters" from two to 80 today began three days of merry-making in Huntington Beach's annual Fourth of July celebration.

Cars poured into the beach area in a steady stream all morning, and accommodations for trailers and tents were quickly used up as an anticipated crowd of 50,000 began to assemble for the first formal part of the festival—arrival of the U. S. S. Milwaukee, huge navy cruiser.

Celebration officials received definite word from Sacramento today that Lieut. Gov. George Hatfield will represent the state at the head of the parade Monday. He will give a brief welcoming address at the conclusion of the march.

The property was sold to the defendants on a contract in 1935, the plaintiff said, and they were to pay $20 a month. They now are in arrears $27.50, she says, and still owe $380.75.

She asks possession of the property and $100 damages, explaining her health has been bad and she is unable to make frequent trips to El Modena to attempt to collect the installments.

Wage Cuts Seen By A.F.L. As Blow At Recovery

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor coupled an observation today that business prospects were better with a warning that wage cuts might "offset" the beginnings of improvement.

"The deep pessimism which has overcast business thinking for the past few months seems to be giving way to more hopeful and buoyant thinking," the AFL said in its monthly business survey.

The federation said it regarded the situation as "still critical," however, and reiterated a twin policy of "union resistance to wage cuts" and "insistence on wage increases wherever industry can pay them."

Run-Off Vote Settles 2 Seats

5000 Turn Out for First Annual Grunion Derby

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The first annual Huntington Beach grunion derby drew 5000 persons, young and old, out at the stroke of midnight to chase after the wiggly fish last night.

When they arrived, the people learned they were just grunion hunting for fun, because the state fish and game commission (which turned out in full force) ruled no derby prizes would be tolerated.

Grunion were running poorly, but just made the competition keener, and when the evening's play was over, an estimated 25,000 of the slim, silvery fish had been scooped up.

A big chamber of commerce campfire in the middle of the beach, with other campfires scattered from one end of the beach to the other, added color to the scene. Several cameras were grinding during majority of the derby, which lasted from midnight until 1 a. m. today, and photographers for Look magazine also turned out to record the unique event.

PASSPORT TO PERIL

CHAPTER XXXI
ONCE inside the headman's house, Jim took Vara in his arms and kissed her—thanked her again for saving his life.

"You were magnificent! But how did you know all that about my motives in posing as Jim Long? That part bowled me over!"

She smiled. "I followed you when you so rudely left me after we reached here. You could not get rid of me so easily. I followed you to the window of this house. So when you went inside, I came to the window and listened, too. I heard all you said."

Jim laughed. "So you stole my listening post, eh? Anyways, I can't thank you enough for what you did. Those people would have torn me to pieces in a few minutes if you hadn't stepped in at the psychological moment."

"I know," she shrugged. "He looked at her slyly. 'It was not a pretty sight, was it? Made you change your mind, didn't it, about refusing to admit that you knew anything about Long's murder?'"

She stared at him a moment. Then, to his surprise, an angry light came into her eyes. "You still think I knew about that? You still saw Jim Vara in league with a murderer?"

"Not! Not! Not in league!" Jim protested. "But Vara, you've just finished telling the natives that as Strade's secretary, you knew about his murder!"

To his utter astonishment, she suddenly burst into tears. "Oh, Jim-Jim!" she sobbed. "How can you be so blind? Do you not understand that I pretended I knew only to save you?"

"I love you! I love you! I love you!" she sobbed. "How can you be so blind? Do you not understand that I pretended I knew only to save you?"

Jim was overcome with remorse. He begged her to forgive him, called himself a stupid blockhead, brushed her tears away and soothed her.

"I knew," she told him, "that Mr. Strade did not want James Long to come to Costanagua, and that he wrote to certain men in Miami to try and prevent him from sailing—but I did not know that James Long had been killed! When I saw you on the Sea Gull, I thought that you were he, and that Mr. Strade had failed to keep you from sailing."

Jim was very humble. "I'm sorry I didn't understand. I know it was stupid of me—but but you must admit you've given me cause for doubting you. I realize now that it's all been Strade's doing, that you had to take the orders from him. But you can't blame me if I was pretty bitter—after what you've done against me, under his orders."

"What do you mean?" she asked, her eyes widening. "I have done nothing against you. I have only tried to help you!"

He looked at her a moment, and suddenly, it dawned on him that perhaps he had got the wrong idea on everything that had seemed to involve Vara. Excitement filled him at the thought that perhaps there was a perfectly innocent explanation of the incidents that had made him so bitter against her.

Eagerly, he questioned her. He learned then, that she had known

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

Our studies in the Old Testament, which were begun by the series from Mark's gospel, are now to be resumed where we left last year. For the coming weeks we are to look at various leaders in the history of Israel, and some of their outstanding qualities.

We will remember that under God's leadership through Moses, the Israelites had been brought out from their bondage in Egypt. They had been given a set of laws of divine approval and a system of true worship. The next thing was to bring them into a land as their own, a national home where they could develop and carry forward the divine program. At Kadesh they had turned aside because of unbelief, but now they are again ready to enter the land given them by God. Moses, who has been their human leader thus far, is now dead.

Before Moses' death he arranged for his successor, Joshua, who was born in Egypt and lived for 40 years under the period of bondage, had been Moses' minister in the wilderness years and leader of the army. Joshua is not a new leader, just a new human agency of God in His leadership. Moses had publicly introduced him to Israel and his first task

JOSHUA'S SECRET OF SUCCESS

We are told that all our actions are the direct result of our own choices. Joshua, after years of observation of all types of living—from bondage to uncontrolled freedom—challenged Israel with a question which sooner or later every individual and nation must face: "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." Some would serve the gods of money, fame or pleasure, but by way of example Joshua adds "But as for me and my house we will serve the Lord."

was to lead the multitude of Israelites into the promised land.

All things are now ready and Joshua's first instruction is, "Now therefore arise, go over this Jordan . . . unto the land which I do give to them. A gift, yes, which made it possible for them to take it. But there is a difference between entering a land and actually possessing it. This looked like a tremendous task but God gives Joshua full assurance: (1) No man shall be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life. (2) As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee.

With such a promise and assurance to Joshua, what a shame that Israel never fully possessed the land. They did go forward and drive out the Canaanites, but compromised with them until they could not destroy them and had to deal with them ever afterward.

Joshua remained ever loyal, however. He had been commanded to be strong and very courageous—two things absolutely essential to success. This was not alone for actual conflict with the enemy, but "that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law." Loyalty to God and His law and arrangements is just as essential as skill in service.

Now from Joshua 24:14-21 let us look at his closing years. His life has been well spent. He has been loyal and obedient in all of his life, though his people have failed somewhat and have been slow in taking up their inheritance. Joshua now calls them together for some final counsel before his death. Their past experiences with golden calf gods and murmurs, their slowness to take up a land given them for but the taking—these instances lead Joshua to call on them to "fear the Lord and serve Him in sincerity and truth."

SUMMER PLAN PUT INTO USE BY UNITARIANS

The summer program at the Unitarian church is initiated this week, with two changes in Sunday service hours, and the inauguration of two series of summer week-day programs.

For July and August the junior fellowship is to meet at 9 o'clock, not 9:30, and the morning service will begin at 10:30, not 11. The sermon on this first Sunday will treat of the problem of the prevention of war under the title, "Who Makes Wars?" The service of worship will celebrate the ideals of the founders of the republic.

The Fourth of July will be further commemorated in the two week-day programs to be inaugurated this week. The Town Meeting is to take the place of the Citizens' forum which has occupied Tuesday evenings through the winter.

Wednesday at 4 o'clock, the first of the fortnightly play-review teas scheduled for the summer, will hear Mona Summers Smith read Sidney Howard's "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle." The public is invited and a silver offering will be taken for the support of the teas.

Security Board Untangles Case of Boy Who Borrowed Brother's Identity for Job

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The social security board has just untangled the confusion caused by a youth who borrowed his brother's identity to get a job.

Officials described the incident today, but withheld true names and places. Here's what happened:

The board's mechanical system for sorting 39,000,000 wage earner records—a well nigh infallible device—turned up two cards that appeared to be duplicates, except that different employers were listed. Convinced the machine couldn't be wrong, the board sent out investigators who found:

Some years ago a boy of 16 used his 18-year-old brother's name and age to obtain work. They have continued to work under the same names in different plants. And both filled out identical social security applications.

The board straightened its records, but kept the boys' secret to protect their jobs.

Man Admits Theft, Asks Probation

Admitting he grabbed a purse after a street-corner argument with Jennie Saldana, cafe worker, Joe Rivera, Jr., pleaded guilty to grand theft charges yesterday afternoon and asked Superior Judge James L. Allen for probation.

Rivera will have probation hearing next Friday. He was arrested after Mrs. Saldana told police she had resisted his advances, angering him. He snatched from her hand a purse containing $12, she said, and fled.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY

Boy Scouts of Rotary troop 24, Santa Ana, will give a free fireworks display to the public at Santiago creek promptly at 9:30 p. m. Monday, Scoutmaster Franklin Nickey announced today.

"We want to show our appreciation to the public for its support of the fireworks sale at our five stands. The manufacturer has given us special Roman candles' pin-wheels and similar material to shoot Monday night, and we are glad to share our fun with the public," Nickey said.

Proceeds from the sales of fireworks at the troop's five stands in Santa Ana will be used to defray expenses of 15 scouts, who have attained life or eagle rating on a two-week trip to the Columbia river country this summer.

'SNOW WHITE' RETURNS HERE

High drama, pathos, excitement and suspense are woven into Walt Disney's feature length production, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which opens an engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow at popular prices.

In the seven-reel Technicolor production Snow White's queen consults her eerie magic mirror to find out who is the fairest in all the land. When the mirror replies "Snow White," the queen retreats to her secret dungeon at the bottom of the castle, through which a mysterious river flows.

Here she brews magic potions and turns herself into an old witch, to an accompaniment of lightning and crashing of thunder. She disguises herself thus so that she may go to Snow White, living in the cottage of the Seven Dwarfs, and, posing as an old peddler woman, induces her to bite into a poisoned apple.

The ultimate in excitement and suspense comes when the dwarfs, discovering the queen at their cottage, chase her through a blinding thunder and rain storm, up into mountain fastnesses where, just as she is about to roll a boulder down on them, a bolt of lightning sends her toppling off the cliff. Romance comes riding along in the person of the handsome young prince. Plenty of comedy is furnished by the antics of the Seven Dwarfs, who almost steal the picture.

Eight musical numbers are featured in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a production that has taken the country by storm. Short subjects include a Robert Benchley comedy, "An Evening at Home," a Pete Smith story, "Surf Heroes," a novelty, "Return of the Buffalo," and World News events.

Three New Shows To West Coast

Three newly released motion pictures scheduled for an early showing at the West Coast theater were announced today by Manager George King.

"The Shopworn Angel" is one of the films booked. While the picture has a war theme it does not go into battle scenes but attacks the problem from the inside, showing the loves of three people in various walks of life.

The gallantry of five men who faced death in a last ditch battle to stamp out yellow fever is perpetuated in "Yellow Jack," which stars Robert Montgomery and Virginia Bruce.

The thrills, joys and juvenile tragedies of a British merchant marine training school for boys form the background for "Lord Jeff," new story of the sailors of tomorrow, with Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney.

Victor McLaglen Star at Broadway

"The Devil's Party," starring Victor McLaglen shows for the last times tonight at the Broadway theater. The drama delineates the life history of five youngsters after they emerge from one of the toughest districts of New York.

A melodrama played for comedy and laughs, "Romance on the Run," is the second feature on the closing program. Donald Woods is a private investigator, who gets on the trail of Grace Bradley, a notorious jewel thief, when William Demarest, a police lieutenant, fails to capture her.

There are today 19,000 kinds of birds, of which 1200 are native of North America.

BOARD TALKS RENTAL FEES

Round table discussions of such diverse subjects as realtors' commissions for rentals and the California, transient relief problem highlighted a business meeting of the Santa Ana realty board in Rossmore cafe yesterday.

The board delayed action on endorsement of an initiative measure asking more stringent bars to granting relief to indigents who have moved to California from the Midwest, pending further study of the proposal. Endorsement was asked by the Bakersfield board.

Spirited discussion of the board's endorsement several weeks ago of a policy of taking 25 per cent commissions on new rentals was held, with several realtors indicating they understood the board action was a general policy and not obligatory in all cases. Certain rental commissions, they held, still must be at the old $5-a-month figure.

6-Month Sentence For Punishing Girl

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Winston L. Wade, 24, a masseur, began serving a six months' jail sentence today for punishing unjustifiably his 8-year-old stepdaughter, Dolores Merten.

SPEED PAYS SPEED FINE

Max Schulhof, Los Angeles, paid $10; and Earl Stephenson, Riverside, $8 on other speeding charges.

A $15 fine was levied against George Schick, Santa Ana, for intoxication. ## 'THE TOY WIFE' AT WEST COAST

"The Toy Wife," starring Luise Rainer, with Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young sharing honors as leading men, is the current attraction at the West Coast theater. The program also offers "Border G-Man" starring George O'Brien.

"The Toy Wife" is Miss Rainer's first since she and Spencer Tracy, both Academy Award winners for 1937, appeared together in "Big City." A story of life in New Orleans and Louisiana in the 1850's, "The Toy Wife" is said to offer Miss Rainer one of her most dramatic characterizations.

Heading the supporting cast is Barbara O'Neil, H. B. Warner, and Alma Kruger as the mother. Clarence Muse, as a servant, leads a large group of colored players in supporting roles.

Miss Rainer appears as a frivolous New Orleans belle who gives up a fascinating gambler to marry a respectable young attorney. When she subsequently comes to believe that her elder sister has usurped her place in the affections of her husband and child, she runs away with the other man.

How a courageous government agent saves the son and daughter of a United States senator from being involved in a scheme to smuggle arms and munitions to a foreign nation is dramatically depicted in "Border G-Man." The story revolves around the activities of a large smuggling ring violating the neutrality laws by secretly exporting men, horses and arms to a warring country.

'White Banners' On Coming Bill

Authored by the writer of the famous novels, "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Lights," the motion picture version of "White Banners" will show at the Broadway theater starting a week from tomorrow. Lloyd C. Douglas is author of the three famous works.

With its background in the troublesome times of the 1920's, "White Banners" tells the story of a typical small-town American family, discouraged by depression. Fay Bainter has the central feminine role. Claude Rains has the leading masculine role. Another feature coming soon to the Broadway is "Tropic Holiday."

Every Townsendite in Orange county should see it that their children and grandchildren are present at 7:30 this evening to hear Miss Roberta Schmale of Garden City, Kan., make an address in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. It is far more important for your young people to hear her, than it is for yourselves. The need of the moment in the Townsend movement is to get the young people of the nation as thoroughly inculcated with a belief in the power of the Townsend plan principles to promote prosperity for all, as now is true among the 10,000,000 or more elderly who espouse it. Such a belief on the part of the young will never come about without an effort is made to get them to hear such speakers as Miss Schmale, when the opportunity is afforded. What are you folks who have young people going to do about it? Will you try to induce their presence tonight or not?

Miss Schmale is on the Pacific coast as a delegate to the recent Townsend National Convention and has stayed over for a visit with friends in Hollywood, which makes possible for the Orange county people to hear her. She has been featured as a Townsend speaker in five of the mid-west states and comes to us with the fire which youth has for the Townsend plan when its purpose and powers for economic betterment are understood. Santa Ana club No. 6, under the direction of A. M. Mapes is sponsoring Miss Schmale's appearance tonight.

A letter to this column from M. D. Sanders, publicity head for the La Habra club No. 1 tells of the meeting held last Monday night in the Masonic hall when a pot-luck dinner was held and a general good time enjoyed by the large crowd present. He reports that Mayor C. T. Johnson was present for one another the main address, promised if he was elected to congress from this district, that he would fight for the enactment of the Townsend Bill H. R. 4199 without amendments or changes. Sanders says that A. M. Mapes of Santa Ana was also on the program as a speaker and made a good talk. It seems that the La Habra club knows how to get a crowd in a proper mood for receiving a speaker's message and so they filled the people up with chicken and noodles in addition to the other delicacies of a pot-luck dinner. This club will next meet next Monday night because of the holiday but will hold its

'OLD CHICAGO' DEPICTS FIRE

The hot-headed Dion O'Leary, boss of old Chicago's "Patch" is powerfully portrayed by Tyrone Power in Darryl F. Zanuck's film, "In Old Chicago," which comes to the screen at Walker's State theater Sunday for a four-day showing.

One of the most exciting parts of the film is the destruction of Chicago by fire, dramatically pictured in this production. Alice Faye takes the leading role in the film as a beauty of "Old Chicago." Don Ameche, as Jack O'Leary, is featured in a battle with his brother for the city he loved.

On the same program is the production "Island in the Sky," a romantic mystery. The film stars Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen. Manhattan's di-de-ho spot is the setting for the story. Whalen, as special investigator for the district attorney's office, has taken to the "Island in the Sky" club, 70 stories up. Just as they get into the stride of celebrating their engagement murder strikes—and the honeymoon is off while Whalen hastens to make a quick clean-up of a routine murder case.

Wyken, Blynkyn and Nod," a Disney Silly Symphony cartoon and a newsreel complete the bill.

PETER LORRE IN THRILLER

Murder before 20,000 witnesses—and nobody knew who did it! At the stroke of 10, death was to strike Mr. Moto himself.

In this situation, a different crime-detecting champion of fiction and film faces his most baffling murder mystery when "Mr. Moto's Gamble" opens at the State theater tomorrow for a three-day showing.

This film starring Peter Lorre offers an unusual feature in its supporting cast. Keye Luke, Dick Baldwin, Lynn Bari, Douglas Fowley, Jayne Regan, Harold Huber and Maxine Rosenbloom.

Guns without bullets! Silent! Invisible! Deadly! They strike during a thrilling championship boxing bout. If he wins, Mr. Moto will trap a phantom killer. If he loses, he himself will be killed.

Anna Lee and John Lader are the stars of the thrilling epic of the air, "Non-Stop New York." This picture will be shown for the first time in Santa Ana with "Mr. Moto's Gamble."

On the same bill will be a chapter of the serial, "Mysterious Pilot," supervised by Captain Frank Hawks and a Merrie Melodies color cartoon, "A Star Is Hatched."

Prison Film Goes To Broadway Soon

A young girl's unreasoned love for a man who does not deserve it lands her in a brutal penal institution in the new Paramount drama, "Prison Farm," which comes to the Broadway theater next Thursday.

Shirley Ross, recently seen in the "Big Broadcast of 1938," heads the cast. As her two leading men she has Lloyd Nolan and John Howard.

Sharing honors with "Prison Farm" is "Romance of the Limberlost," screen version of the novel by Gene Stratton Porter. In this version of the widely read book, Jean Parker is the leading role, and according to critics, gives her finest dramatic portrayal to date.

The cast includes such popular players as Eric Linden, Marjorie Main, Edward Pawley and others.

but he dares to predict that sometime—the lad who spoke in Long Beach and his brothers "will rise up and call her blessed."

Special Showings On July Fourth

Continuous shows will be screened at both Broadway and West Coast theaters on Monday, July 4, it was announced today. Because of the holiday falling on Monday, Manager George King of the theaters has arranged continuous performances for all day and evening, it was announced.

Four Sisters Attend Lovely Bride

When Miss Dorothy Mae Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo B. Allen of Garden Grove, became the bride of Thomas La Velle Terry at eight o'clock rites last night, she was attended by a maid of honor and three bridesmaids, all her sisters, and the officiating minister was her brother, Lawrence Allen, who was just graduated from Princeton Seminary.

The ceremony was particularly lovely, performed by candlelight in the Placentia Calvary church, with 350 guests in attendance. The bride was given away by her father, with a long train and an Elizabethan collar. A long veil fell from a pearl coronet caught to her hair with orange blossoms, and she wore a dainty heirloom brooch belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Crosby. Miss Lucille Allen, as maid of honor, wore salmon-hued lace net with tiny jacket, a full skirt, and a tight-fitting bodice. The bridesmaids, Marjorie and Gertrude Allen, were gowned identically, in pale yellow, baby blue, and delicate pink marquisette. All carried bouquets of chiffon daisies matching their frocks.

Little Janet Magnusson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Win Magnusson of Bellflower, was flower girl, wearing bouffant white or-gandy over pale pink satin which matched her basket of rose petals. Stuart Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Crosby of Garden Grove, was ring-bearer.

Best man was Henry Buhler of Pasadena, while ushers were Leroy Allen, Paul Rouse, and Harry Stewart.

The attractive bride was given in marriage by her father. She is a graduate of Garden Grove High school, Santa Ana junior college, and Redlands university, and has taught in Placentia schools for the past three years. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terry of Caraway, Ark., was graduated from Arkansas State college and is now associated with an Alhambra firm. They will make their home in Alhambra.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were hosts at a reception for 100 guests following the ceremony. The latter was attractive in a frock of hyacinth blue lace and was assisted by Mrs. Claude Crosby, in pink marquisette. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Win Magnusson of Bellflower and Miss Marion Magnusson of Garden Grove.

STEAK BAKE AT WORKMANS' IS ENJOYED

Officers of Hermosa chapter, Order of Eastern Star, with their wives and husbands, enjoyed an hilarious evening preceded by a steak bake Thursday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Workman. Tables had been gaily decked with red dahlias, red tapers, and shasta daisies, and on the host committee with the Workmans were the worthy matron, Helen Lurker, with Cyrus Lurker; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pope, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berry.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard will not be present, as they are spending the holiday at Forest Home with Dr. and Mrs. Verne Bishop.

The affair brought forth a shower of lovely linens for her trousseau and was amusing with its sequence of gay games at which Eva Bergee and Mrs. Ray Cartwright won the prizes.

At the close of the evening a delicious refreshment course was served at a table festively decorated in the Fourth of July manner.

Guests of Miss Cartwright were Miss Frazee, Miss Eunice Spicer, Miss Eleanor Morilla, Miss Dorothy Drew of Los Angeles, Miss Betty Martin, Mrs. Ray Cartwright, Mrs. Lynn Fry of Glendale, Mrs. Harry Manns, Mrs. Ellsworth Starr, Mrs. Corvin Frazee, Mrs. John Conlisk, Miss Eva Bergee, Miss Lois Pranke, Miss Barbara Reed of Orange, Mrs. Herbert Woodyard, and Mrs. Cartwright.

CHAT AWHILE with BETTY

It may bring thoughts of beaching and mountaineering and fire-crackling and supping and whatnot to 42,999 heads in Santa Ana—that Glorious Fourth. I mean—but to the remaining one, that of an harassed society editor—it means summer recesses and adjournments and the cool voices of telephone operators saying "that number has been temporarily disconnected at the request of the subscriber." So come on people—Give. Give your eager scribes a break and call in with those tid-bits of what you all are doing during those long awaited weeks of rest and quiet. Week-end trips and barbecues and picnics and fishing trips and informal get-togethers—we like 'em.

Come to think of it, Independence Day recalls several other things. 'Twas just a year ago that Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ferry made Mr. and Mrs. George Wells grandparents for the first time, with that husky George Douglas Ferry who's now gurgling and cooing with the best of them.

And it was just three years ago that blond Frances Bowman plighted her troth to one Quincy Hardy. Remember? In case you don't, here's a picture of her as she was then. It doesn't seem that long since we were reading and writing of the wedding, does it?

The Hardys have just returned from a week of wandering amid the historic spots round and about the Yosemite, with tales of fascinating gold-mine towns, where six-inch doors, built to withstand the raids of the famous Joaquin Murietta. It quite surprised me to hear their accounts, having associated Yosemite only with the sporting life of summer and winter.

Auburn-haired Jimmie Flagg was giggling at what she called a compliment with "double entendre" this week. Said a cooing lady to her, "My dear, every time I see you in that dress, you look lovelier."

Independence Day Gatherings Planned At Country And Yacht Clubs After Parade

Crackling, popping, sizzling, rocketing—the glorious Fourth is upon us! The true harbinger of summer, it brings with it all the joyous excitement of childhood recalled for grown-ups weary of the more conventional phases of society, and the epitome of exhilaration for the youngsters, whose day most truly it is. Exclusive of the hundreds of families going in for private celebrations at home or at mountain or beach cottages are three gala events where large groups of Santa Ana folk will congregate. One is the county parade at Huntington Beach at eleven in the morning of the Fourth. One is the weekend-long celebration at the Newport Harbor Yacht club, and last but far from least is the festival planned at the Santa Ana Country club. Yacht club members and their guests will enjoy races of all descriptions Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, with a summer dinner-dance Saturday, a flag officers' special buffet supper Sunday, and the impressive color service at noon on Independence Day. Country clubbers are planning special festivities for every member of the family. An all-day tournament will be held Monday, with many awards. At half past five o'clock, Bennie and George Osterman, with the aid of all the directors and their wives, will start serving a barbecue supper that will go on until after seven.

Teacher Here Weds In Wee Kirk

Attractive Miss Dena Rudolph, who has been a teacher in the Roosevelt school of Santa Ana and has made her home here for the past year, became the bride of John William Hilliard of Redlands at late afternoon nuptials yesterday in the Wee Kirk of the Heather at Glendale.

The wedding was a very simple one, with the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Fagerburg of the First Baptist church officiating, and with John Grigsby acting as best man.

The pretty bride wore a frock of white marquisette trimmed with white soutache braid, and a shoulder-length veil falling from a Juliet cap. She carried a little white prayerbook that was a gift of the groom, which was covered with gardenias and showers of lilies of the valley. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Lee Rudolph, in pale pink chiffon with a brief veil, and carrying a pale pink and blue colonial bouquet.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rudolph of Los Angeles, entertained at a buffet supper for the immediate family following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard plan to leave Sept. 1 for New Haven, Conn., where they will reside while the groom attends Yale Medical school. He took his bachelor's degree at Stanford and his master's at U. S. C.

His bride was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Iota, Alpha Chi Omega, and Alpha Theta Phi social and scholarship sororities at U. C. L. A.

A guest award going to Mrs. Flanagan. Enjoying a concluding refreshment course were Miss Ann Flanagan, Mrs. Bertha Klatt, Miss Rose Klatt, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Nancy Lopez of Hollywood, Mrs. Kirby Ferguson, and the honoree and hostesses.

Gala Fourth Planned At Hendrie Home

CONJECTURE
The regular meeting of the Gold Star Mothers which is held on the first Monday of May, has been postponed until further notice on account of the holiday.

Cute remark of the week: Vivid Mrs. Bennie Osterman, enthusiastically describing the perfection of a recent party: "My party, they had everything from soup both ways"—which is pretty apt.

Or perhaps it was the one uttered by Mrs. Edward Walker, whom I heard Mrs. Sara Haddon describe once as "the prettiest woman in Santa Ana." Said she earnestly on catching her daughter-in-law watering her flowers at night: "Oh dear—don't ever put zinnias to bed with their feet wet. They'll catch cold!"

Senator and Mrs. Harry Westover issued cards today to a tea next Sunday complimenting Mrs. Clarence Nisson's charming southern houseguest, who is her sister and a cousin of the Misses Montgomery.

Hazel Stroschein and Florence Nalle pulled a novel trick yesterday—had a tea for mothers-to-be—with 17 present; Harriet Gruettner Mills missed out on it at the last minute by becoming the mother of a bouncing girl the day before, and Kay Barr Altherton preceded the deadline by a little more than a week. Time will tell as to the rest of the guests.

And some more travel notes: The Nelson Visels are week-ending it at Big Bear but are returning Monday because an aunt is to be operated on. . . . Dr. and Mrs. Frandson and LaYonne are vacationing at Tahiti. . . . Dr. and Mrs. Enns are reverting to the procedure and revelling in the thought of a summer at home for a change, having sold their beach house. . . . Frances Nall is getting all excited at the prospect of talking with her wandering son over the short-wave set of a rancher friend who connects with Quito, South America, quite easily. . . . Mrs. Jessie White is at Yellowstone with some Alhambra friends. . . . Margaret Huber and little Linda are contemplating a week at the Fernandes mountain cabin so Margaret can recuperate from a lingering attack of flu. . . . The Rufus Bonds have moved to 1114 South Broadway.

The two cute daughters of the Lew Blodgets, Rosemary and June, leave tomorrow for six weeks at Camp Chaparral. . . . Lucinda Griffith is at Laguna for the summer. . . . And so are the blonde Rurup twins, Barbara and Louise.

And that's just about enough. If people would settle down, this year colyum might sound different than a travel notebook—and if Mrs. Haddon were ever at home, I happen to know of someone who's called her 10 times to give her clubhouse tickets to the races. . . . See you next Saturday, with twice as much chatter-chatter. That's a threat!

—BETTY GUILD.

Catherine Cameron, one of our most accomplished career-women, is revelling in a few weeks at home. She's just finished "doing a fall line." Elucidation: as a pretty smart dress designer, she works like mad for several weeks to get this manufacturer or that, getting everything ready for their next season's output, and then can sit back on her heels awhile. Trouble, is just when we're all sweltering in August, she'll have to be labeled as a "double entendre" this week. Said a cooing lady to her, "My dear, every time I see you in that dress, you look lovelier."

LUNCHEON FETES HOSTESSES OF THE YEAR

Mrs. W. W. Hyde, past worthy high priestess of Damascus White Shrine, entertained at a charming little luncheon party one day this week to compliment her hostesses of the past year.

She carried out a yellow and gold color scheme in her home at 1309 North Olive street, centering her luncheon table with lovely margarolds and coropsis in a crystal bowl set on triple mirrors and flanked by yellow tapers in crystal holders.

At games later Mrs. Eva McConnell, Mrs. Ada Sutherland, and Mrs. Marian Wallace were the fortunate high scorers. Other guests of Mrs. Hyde were the Mesdames Lena Houston, Caroline Good, Sadie Roehn, Della Maud Ryan, Marie Patterson, Florence Wright and Marie Beisel.

ENJOY NEW LAKE IN MOUNTAINS

Mrs. Leon A. Dickey and Mrs. Carl Edgar drove to the Dickey cabin at Crestline this morning. They were to be joined this evening by Mr. Dickey and his sister, Mrs. Arthur Davis of Mazatlan, Mexico; Carl Edgar, and Miss Ellen Selover, all of whom will stay over Monday.

A special addition to the pleasure of the mountain visit will be during the afternoon for the children. Present were Mrs. Loren Spencer and children, Sharon and Danny, Mrs. Sadie Maties and

STUDENTS ARE OFF ON BEACH VACATION

Excited over gay plans for a three-day sojourn at the beach, eight coeds from Orange, together with high school and Fullerton lay the students left today for Balboa, where they will stay at the Mission Inn house.

Outstanding among activities for the week-end party program are kayaking, bicycling, swimming, dancing and picnics on the beach. Miss Virginia Jones, Orange High school journalism and English teacher, is a special guest.

Following the few days' beach vacation, she intends to spend most of the summer with her parents in San Diego.

The week-end is to be enjoyed by the Misses Maxine and June Watson, Dorothy Gray, Audrey Hancock, Bernice Williams, Mary Bryant, Ida Price, and Miss Jones. Joining them later will be the Misses Betty Gross and Melba Estes. Those who will be guests for this evening are Miss Delpha Wollert, Ross McClintock, Lester Paulus and Derrel Wollert.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

INDEPENDENCE DAY... For the past 182 years the United States has celebrated the anniversary of its birth of independence on the fourth of July—yet, strange as it seems, it was on July 2 that the American colonies voted themselves "free" and independent states.

July 4th on the other hand, is merely the anniversary of the adoption of the specific document which proclaimed to the world the decision of the second Continental Congress to free the New World from Old World alliances.

A daring prognostication was advanced on July 3, 1776, by John Adams:

"Yesterday the greatest question was decided which was ever debated in America, and a greater, perhaps, never was, nor ever will be decided among men. A resolution was passed, without one dissenting colony, "that these United Colonies are, of right ought to be, free and independent states..." "You will see, in a few days, a declaration setting forth the causes which have impelled us to this mighty revolution, and the reasons which will justify it in the sight of God and man."

"The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America."

Sam, the Collector

Having corralled such a large percentage of the world's gold supply that it isn't much fun any more, Uncle Sam has now turned his acquisitive and hoarding instincts in the direction of the silver supply, with what results remains to be seen.

A great deal of gold is safely buried in Kentucky, and a fine large "safe" is being completed on the West Point military reservation to take care of the silver. Part of the silver, that is. The new "safe" will hold only 70,000 tons.

Even as a little boy Sam liked the bright and shining things. Coins of all kinds have always especially intrigued his fancy.

When the silver situation is well under control we suppose our good Uncle Sam will turn his attention to the collection of copper, nickel, zinc, aluminum and other only semi-precious metals.

Uncle Sam doesn't expect to be using his gold and silver toys for a long time to come. The only good they are, actually, in their melted-down and buried state, is that everybody else in the world wants them, too, and, in a pinch, would be glad to trade things for them.

Aberdeen Angus cow in Iowa sells for $3500.
That's a lot of money, but not as much as the taxpayers have paid for many a politician's bull.

That New York Debate

The Santa Ana Journal always has upheld and always will uphold the right of publication. There are ample remedies at law for any violation of that right.

In the case now raging in New York, wherein a former G-man seeks to tell his official secrets concerning a spy ring, the attack of the government is being made upon the wrong agency, we believe.

If the ex-G-man considers giving up information that would be harmful to the government's prosecution of accused spies, he should be restrained from so doing.

The newspaper which considers publishing his revelations is entirely within its rights in making such publication.

The government will be cutting dangerously close to the heart of the most valued section of the American bill of rights if it gives the newspaper publisher in the case any order whatsoever.

As for its ex-employee, he has had an example set for him by his superiors clear to the very top of the government itself in the matter of selling words for publication on almost every conceivable subject.

Airplane traffic for May showed a 16.2 per cent increase over May, 1937. All it needs for a bigger boom is an increase of railroad fares.

The Savage Beast

In Charleston, West Virginia, a young man admits that he shot his uncle for singing a hill-billy song. He is sentenced to 15 years in prison. As an ameliorating fact he declared that he wanted his uncle to stop singing the hill-billy song because it made his aunt cry.

And, thus is opened wide an entire new field of music appreciation.

Haters of hill-billy music—and their number is said to be increasing rather than diminishing—cannot take the comparatively light sentence as anything like an endorsement of any possible campaign to exterminate hill-billy singers. But on the other hand, its lightness does show a tendency on the part of the law-and-order department to deal gently with hill-billy song haters who cannot restrain their passions.

The issue, if any, probably cannot be settled until the supreme court rules on the question of whether hill-billy singing is a sufficient grounds for homicide.

And after that, of course, will come the same question as applied to the broader field of swing music.

A Texas Recipe

Mrs. John N. Garner, wife and secretary of the vice president of the United States, is going for a vacation cruise in the Caribbean while "Cactus Jack," her eminent husband, inspects some newly acquired acres at their ranch home near Uvalde, Texas.

No, they're not "mad" at each other; there's no tiff of any kind. The Garners continue to be one of the happiest and most sensible married couples in capitol circles.

Perhaps the separate vacation plan they have long followed has something to do with that. "I think married couples should spend a little time each year away from each other," says Mrs. Garner. "It makes them appreciate each other the more."

Her suggestion is offered here only for what it is: A unique but obviously workable notion held by two very fine Americans who have weathered many a marital storm together.

Back to the Caves

Thousands of years ago half-human cave men lived in the chalk cliffs of Dover. If we saw them, squat and bearded, we probably wouldn't think much of them. "Man has risen a long ways since then," would be our reaction.

But today army experts in England are examining the caves in these chalk cliffs of England. It is expected that in case of continued air raids from some enemy thousands of men, women and children can move into these caves, to eat, sleep and live there.

Draw your own conclusions, please.

Nation's Capito

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON—Standing before the Indiana republican convention as its keynote speaker, Rep. Bruce Barton of New York told his party some of the things which republican politicians wake up in the night worrying about but which few will admit, even to themselves, in broad daylight.

Such facing of the situation is so rare among republicans that Barton's utterance of the obvious becomes a courageous outburst of common sense.

He told the republicans it was blindness to ignore the popular appeal of Roosevelt and that to inveigh against it was "political insanity." He analyzed the "miracle" of Roosevelt's popularity.

"The answer is easy," Rep. Barton said, "those men and women who have been most neglected in our American life believe that they have found a friend. For the first time in the lives of many of them there is the sense of security which friendship gives. In a job or out of a job, in funds or on relief, they say to themselves: 'He cares. He is trying to do something about it.'"

Paste in Hat
There is a mouthful that every republican politician ought to paste in his hat. And here is more:

"We believe in change," says Republican Barton. "We are not afraid of change. We refuse to burden ourselves with those who are unable to see that today's conditions demand open-mindedness, freedom from prejudice, and willingness to change."

Barton says the republicans will not reveal the New Deal reforms but will put people back to work.

Republicans have been busy pointing out to the country the flyspecks on Roosevelt—some of them fairly good-sized ones. To which the country has replied suspiciously, "Oh, yeah? A majority of the voters have felt that Roosevelt was for them and the republicans against them. With that choice, they would rather have Roosevelt—flyspecks and all. That is why criticism day after day rolls off Roosevelt's back like water off a duck. This is why not even a major depression gets him down. That is why republicans scream continuously that Roosevelt is ruining the country, that he is spending will wreck us, that he is stamping out our liberties, that he is trying to be a dictator, and so on, and for their efforts receive as a reward from the voters only a large, bored yawn.

With millions out of work through no fault of their own, their children crying for bread, republicans have been complaining about spending, praying for a balanced budget, Pythagoras, the great mathematician, brushed aside merchants who wanted to know how to use his numbers for their practical needs. He was busy praying to his mystic numbers and did not want to have them degraded by being used in the market place.

There's No Alternative
So it has been with the great resources and power of the government. Roosevelt has been determined to use them to improve the lot of the average man. He has had to step over the prostrate worshippers who were saying sterile prayers to the theories of the Founding Fathers, and go on with the effort to do something, without worrying too much whether our ancestors would have approved or not.

The plain fact is that for five years there has been no presentable alternative to Roosevelt. It has been Roosevelt or nothing, and the people have preferred Roosevelt. They will tolerate mistakes, errors of judgment, yes even occasional unwise policy, so long as they are convinced these emanate from a man who is their friend and who is trying to make government serve better the needs of the large mass of people. That's the cold politics of it. Bruce Barton is one republican smart enough to see it.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—If you keep your ear to the ground you can detect a lot of inner New Deal grousing at the president's policy of making a speech and then going fishing.

Complaint is that it is very easy to inject the New Deal into primaries, but who is going to organize the machinery to make the New Deal successful in those primaries?

Roosevelt is not going to do it. After a few more speeches he is going fishing. And Jim Farley is not going to do it. He is leaving next week for Alaska.

Meanwhile, all experience shows that organization is a lot more important in primary elections than speech-making. It was Senator Gillette's organization in Iowa which really defeated Otha Wearin. Gillette had the support of the local democratic machine and Wearin made a feeble, last-minute attempt to take it away.

Machine Rule
In Georgia, where Roosevelt is staking everything on an attempt to defeat Senator George with U. S. Attorney Lawrence Camp, the latter has no machine whatsoever. The water power and Coca Cola interests plus other powers behind the machine are throwing their weight to Senator George.

In Maryland, where Roosevelt is out to beat his bitter opponent, Senator Millard Tydings, by backing Congressman David Lewis, his man is going into the race cold with not even a semblance of a machine. Meanwhile Tydings is aligned with the machine of Mayor Jackson of Baltimore, the most powerful in the state.

In Kentucky, the state machine is controlled by Governor Happy Chandler. But here Senator Barkley, friend of the president, is better off, because he has the support of the powerful city machine in Louisville.

To build up state and local organizations requires time and money. It cannot be done overnight. And without Jim Farley translating Roosevelt's fireside chat into direct action, a lot of New Deal candidates will go into primaries with a terrific handicap.

If they win, it will mean two things: (1) That Roosevelt's strength is greater than anyone dreamed; (2) that the country is throwing overboard machine politics.

It will be interesting to prove this one way or the other, Roosevelt's friends say, but they are not interested in laboratory experiments. What interests them is the fact that Roosevelt put himself way out on a limb in his fireside chat, and unless he builds up local organizations he may be shaken off.

Alf Landon
Alf Landon and a group of newspaper friends were swapping stories about the funniest lines they had seen in newspapers.

"Well, boys," said ex-governor of Kansas, "I think I have the prize. There never was anything funnier than the line I pulled in the 1936 campaign: 'When I am president...'"

Those sensational dope stories giving the real lowdown for Ambassador Joe Kennedy's hurried visit to the U. S. A., were just about as accurate as the idea that Alf Landon will run for president again in 1940.

Kennedy dashed over from London to talk to the president about neither dollar valuation nor a new war debt settlement. Personally, he sees nothing to be gained by the first, and while the British would like to make a new deal on the second, they are too preoccupied with re-arming and the TNT-loaded European situation to give it much thought.

Real purpose of Kennedy's trip was to confer with Roosevelt about the tragic German and Austrian refugee problem.

On July 6, at Evian, France, the International Committee on Refugees will meet. The conference grew out of the state department's note to 29 governments proposing an international agency to facilitate the emigration of Austrian and German political refugees.

The only country rejecting the invitation was Italy. The other 28 will be at the Evian meeting, the United States being represented by Myron C. Taylor, former U. S. Steel head, assisted by Robert Pell and George Brandt, state department experts.

In his private talks with the president, Kennedy reported that the situation of German and Austrian Jews is extremely hazardous and that unless a plan for their migration is worked out at the Evian conference thousands of them are doomed.

On top of all the other refugee complications, Kennedy reported that the secret policy of the nazis is to demand ransoms for the release of these people whom they claim they are anxious to get rid of.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

BOMBS AND BRITISH

To the Editor: So to attempt the impossible, to humanize war, Ambassador Kennedy pays a hurried visit across the Atlantic with a mission from the British premier, Chamberlain, to gain President Roosevelt's support in abolishing bombing by air in any future war!

The President seems to be hypnotized by Chamberlain and his aristocratic cabinet who sigh for the good old days when war was safe for the old men, their women and children; the days when the young men could be singled out to be bombed, bayoneted, shot, gassed, blinded, maimed or blown to bits in the trenches while the older men stayed home and made munitions at high wages, money received high rates of interest and munitions makers made millions out of the miseries of war.

Since the invention of the bombing airplane this can no longer be done; rich and poor, old and young, male and female will be slaughtered by air bombing if the powers that be ever start another war. So Chamberlain makes a hypocritical appeal for the abolishment of air bombing but not of war, as though it were any less of a crime to kill a mother's grownup son than her baby boy. Chamberlain is an old man of 70, so willing to subject the flower of the nation's manhood to hideous death, little knows the hearts of mothers who would prefer to suffer with their sons than see them march away to unimaginable horror in the trenches.

We women will not have war at any price. We refuse to countenance a return to mass murder as a means of settling disputes between nations.

We must demand general disarmament and an armed League of Nations as an international police force to implement its decrees and punish aggressors.

President Roosevelt had better take care how he traffics with Chamberlain, who writes letters to Mussolini beginning "Dear Benito" and who sentary Lord Perth publicly give the Fascist salute as he leaves on his journey to the Italian dictator, or so it is recorded in the British Press.

MARGARET GARNER.

What Other Editors Say

PARENTAL OBLIGATION
Nothing could more clearly illustrate the failures we make in the simple business of living than do some of the stories about the "gangs" which have come out of the depression.

An example is a recent speech given before the annual convention of sheriffs and police chiefs of Missouri. The speaker—Chief of Police Andrew McDonnell of Webster Grove, Mo.—said that the depression has actually brought about a reduction in juvenile delinquency.

Here is how it has worked out: Fathers have less work to do—in some cases no work at all—and so have more time about the house. In the spending of that time they have been able to get better acquainted with their sons and have given them companionship and guidance which the youngsters would not otherwise have had.

Said Chief McDonnell: "At the start of the depression, economic worry caused many fathers to neglect their sons. But now both fathers and sons have readjusted themselves, and the happy results are reflected in police records."

To prove his case, he pointed out that in 1933 there were 453 boys serving terms in the Missouri reformatory at Booneville. Last year the number was only 278.

Which makes about as interesting a sidelight on the depression and its effect on human behavior as you could care to find. And it would seem to constitute a pretty severe indictment of the great American Dad, when you stop to think about it—Merced Sun-Star.

CARNEGIE'S

Day

Day
Philosophy

The other day a lecturer friend of mine told me of boarding a bus with a box of slides in hand which she meant to use in a lecture that evening. Just as she lifted her foot to place it on the bus step, a harsh voice from inside the bus bawled, "Step lively there." My friend had not noticed the conductor towering above her, and the harsh command came so suddenly that she dropped the box of slides, broke $14.00 worth of equipment and spoiled for that evening the lecture which had been built around the slides.

The next day after I heard the story, I ran across the following by the late Holworthy Hall in an old copy of the American Magazine:

"I have just heard how a street railway company in Ohio was saved from bankruptcy. This company was doing so badly that even an increase of fare didn't help very much. People simply didn't seem to want to travel on that line.

At the last moment the general manager got the bright idea that, instead of being on the platform merely to collect tickets and make change, the conductors were salesmen and that every passenger was a customer who was buying a ride.

Thereafter every patron of those cars got a pleasant "Thank you," for his nickel. He wasn't told to step lively—any more than a customer in a department store would be told to step lively. He wasn't given a scant five cents worth of consideration; he was treated as though the company had an interest in his comfort and convenience.

And since human nature is both human and nature, people began to ride on that line because they liked the treatment they got. The ridership was averted."

John Luther Long confessed to me that he wrote "Madame Butterfly" without ever having seen Japan. Edgar Rice Burroughs has made a million dollars writing the Tarzan stories without ever having seen Africa. Many of our countrymen who never saw a chuck wagon, or heard a wolf howl, said the last time I was in Texas, I spent an afternoon at Fort Worth chatting with a real cowboy writer, John M. Hendrix, one of the state writers for the Cattleman Magazine.

And grandfathers were pioneer cattlemen, grazing their herds on free grass until the railroads and "Nesters" caught up with them. John Hendrix was born on the old Chisholm Trail, famous in lyrics and legends, and he put it "I cut my teeth on my Dad's sweat-encrusted spurs rowl." John Hendrix is writing stories that will preserve the spirit of the old range days for American history and folk lore.

Eugene Grace, shipping magnate, once said that he had never learned anything in his life that was of more value than the importance of concentrating on the particular job at hand.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

The older I get the more I realize the importance and lasting qualities of early training. I got the idea of illustrating a point by telling a story about it from a school teacher I had when I was a boy.

One day in English class I asked her what a rhetorical question was and she says, "Well, a rhetorical question is one where you don't expect an answer, such as 'what has congress been doing all these years?'"
